

To make an Audio CD

This guide is written for Windows XP. The process will be similar for other operating system such as Vista.

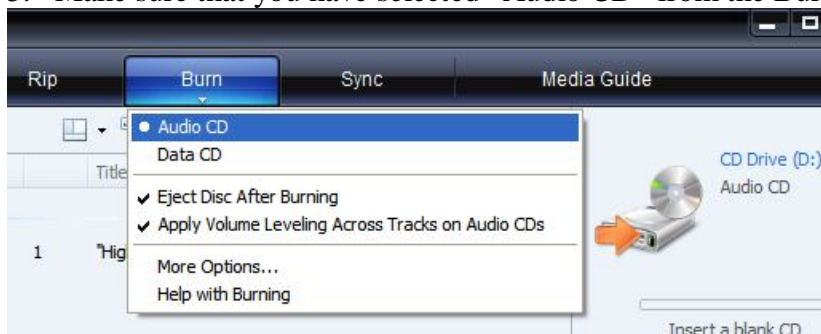

1. Download the audio from the internet or other location.
2. Open Windows Media Player either in the start menu or the quick launch as indicated by the arrow below

3. Insert a blank CD in your CD Drive
4. In Media Player, click on the tab labeled “Burn.”

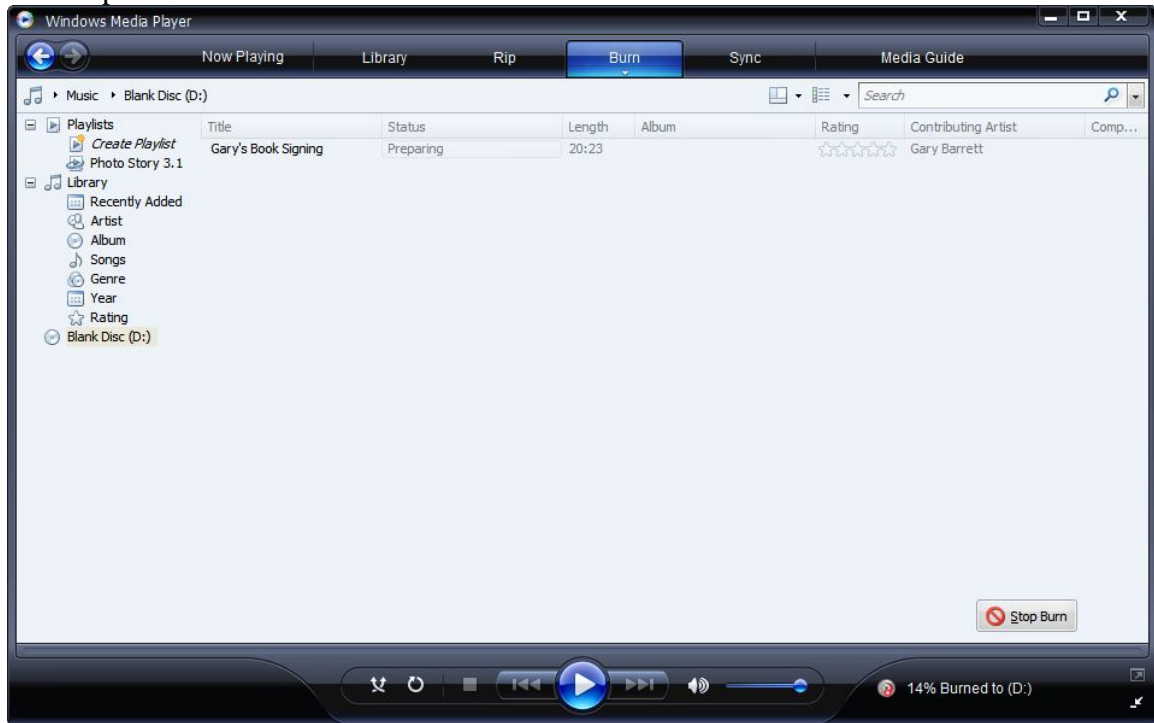

5. Make sure that you have selected “Audio CD” from the Burn menu

6. Drag the file (the audio or song you downloaded) into the right hand side where the arrow is pointing.

7. Click on the “Start Burn” button at the lower right.
8. The computer will do the rest. You should see the following screen once you start the process:

9. Once the computer is done, the CD should eject automatically and you can close everything you had open.